

SHARICK TRIAL IS ON AT SCOTTSBURG

Defendant is Charged With Being An Accessory of Walter Neal, Who Defrauded Bank.

STATES HE IS NOT IMPLICATED

Neal Plead Guilty of The Charge Against Him, But His Sentence Has Not Been Given.

The case against Justice W. Sharick, of Frankfort, who is charged with being an accessory of Walter Neal, the young man who defrauded the Scottsburg bank last August, was called in the Scott circuit court today. Sharick with his attorney, Harry C. Sheridan, of Frankfort, came here Monday evening and spent the night in Seymour, going to Scottsburg this morning. Judge John M. Lewis, of this city, is also an attorney for Sharick.

The attorneys for the defendant secured a postponement of the case because of a defective indictment, and the trial was set for the April term of court.

It will be remembered that Neal who gave his name and address as Thomas L. Manning, of Lafayette, defrauded the Scottsburg State Bank out of nine hundred dollars. When he went to that place he stated that he intended to purchase several farms in Scott county and presented a draft at the bank issued by the First National Bank of Lafayette for $3,000. He placed the draft on deposit and stated that he wanted some money for expenses in connection with his real estate deals, and drew out $450, and asked for a draft payable to himself for the same amount. He said that he was in a real estate deal with J. W. Sharick of Frankfort. Neal was introduced at the bank by a real estate agent who has had some dealings with Sharick.

As soon as Neal left the bank, the assistant cashier became suspicious and informed the cashier of the transaction as soon as he returned to the bank. The latter wired the Lafayette bank about the draft and learned that the draft bearing the same number as the one deposited by Neal was issued for $4.

Detectives were at once placed on the case and about ten days after the transaction Neal was arrested at French Lick. Before going to French Lick, however, he came to this city and purchased a trunk of Fettig and Company, and it was this purchase that led to his arrest. From Seymour he went to Indianapolis and later to French Lick where he was arrested.

At the last term of the Scott circuit court Neal was arraigned and plead guilty to the charge. In giving his story, however, he implicated Mr. Sharick and as a result a warrant was issued for him. Neal's sentence has not yet been pronounced.

Mr. Sharick, who is proprietor of a leading hotel in Frankfort, declares that he knows nothing whatever about the transactions of Neal at Scottsburg. He said that he did not know him until he came to Frankfort as agent for granite ware. Neal with his wife remained at the Sharick hotel for several weeks and still owes a board bill for $130. Mr. Sharick says that his name does not appear upon the draft which was given by Neal at Scottsburg.

Sharick said that the first time he ever met Neal was when he came to his hotel. Neal told Mr. Sharick when his father died he left about $10,000 in government bonds and real estate, but that his mother was to have a life interest in the estate. Upon her death, however, the entire amount was to belong to him, and that he persuaded his mother to let him have $3,000 at once. Neal said that his mother agreed to do this and as soon as he secured possession of the money he intended to pay the board bill he owed Mr. Sharick and invest the remainder in real estate.

Mr. Sharick stated that he and Neal went to Scott county to look at some land which the former owned, and which Neal seemed desirous of buying. Sharick said that when he went to Scottsburg he secured a buggy as soon as he reached the town and in company with Neal drove out to the farm which Sharick had for sale. When they returned to Scottsburg Sharick said they drove immediately to the station and that he boarded a train and returned home. Neal, however, promised to go to his mother's home in the northern part of the state, get the $3,000 to which he referred and return to Frankfort and pay for the land. He also agreed to settle his board bill at the same time.

It seems that Neal did not leave Scottsburg immediately, but remained and deposited the draft. Sharick said that he did not know George Cain, the real estate man who introduced Neal at the bank, before he went to Scottsburg. He said that he never saw nor heard of Cain after that time.

When Neal was arraigned, however, he endeavored to place the blame upon Sharick, it is understood, and stated that he was merely working for Sharick. Neal probably intends to testify in behalf of the state in order to receive a suspended sentence. He is married and his wife frequently visits him at the Scottsburg jail.

Neal's record in the past has not been very commendable. He has been connected with several forgeries, but always managed to straighten them out before landing in the penitentiary. His father was a prominent Methodist minister, and his death was probably hastened by the worry over the actions of his son.

It will require several days to complete the Sharick trial, and the result may not be known before the latter part of the week.

ORGANIZATION TO BE EFFECTED

Interest is Being Taken in The Proposition to Form an Historical Society.

TO PRESERVE LOCAL HISTORY

Supt. Linke and Others are Pushing Matter.—Need of Such a Society.

The organization of a local historical society which has been discussed for some time will probably be effected at no distant date. Supt. Linke, of the city schools who is one of the leaders in the movement to form such an organization is enthusiastic in the matter and has met with much encouragement in discussing the proposition with citizens. At several meetings of the teachers the matter has been discussed and the Indiana Study Club has been taking an active interest in it and its members have been gathering some interesting data and stories.

Supt. Linke will have a meeting with the club in a short time to discuss the proposed organization and formulate plans for effecting it.

The early history of Jackson county undoubtedly should be preserved and a society is needed to have charge of the work. The arousing of a general interest in the matter would result in bringing to light and to the knowledge of the public many interesting stories and incidents connected with the early life and history of the county. There are old people in Seymour and in other parts of the county who have a knowledge of early times and who have facts in their possession which should not be lost. It has been suggested that anyone in any part of the county who is interested in the proposed organization and would like to become a member of it, send their name to Supt. Linke or if more convenient to the Republican office as the promoters of the movement desire to know how general an interest will be taken in it. It is not the intention to charge any membership fee.

EXCELLENT COMPANY

Harvey Stock Company Pleased Large Audience at Majestic.

The Harvey Stock Company gave their opening play, "Ishmael" last night before one of the largest audiences that has assembled at the Majestic Theatre to witness a theatrical production for several years. The house was crowded and many were unable to secure seats in any part of the house. The play was very good and was presented in a very commendable manner. All the members of the company were especially strong in their respective parts, and were shown due appreciation.

The order of the house was very satisfactory, and the company, through Mr. Owens, paid a compliment to Manager Jack Howard for his effort to maintain the best of order during the play. The company will remain here a week.

RECEIVE PETITIONS

Communications Regarding Liquor Law Received by Representatives.

Members of the house who come from counties where there are many temperance people, both Democratic and Republican, as well as of Prohibition party affiliations, are confronted with an option question that threatens seriously to disturb their peace of mind. Petitions and personal letters are coming in to the legislature from many sources.

Communications are being received by assemblymen, both in the form of petitions from churches, W. C. T. U.'s women's societies and general temperance organizations and also letters from individual constituents. Some are partisan, some denominational and some general.

Several such petitions were circulated in this city and also in the county several weeks ago. They were presented at the various churches and were signed by a large number of people.

A number demand that the county option law shall not be repealed, and ask the representatives to act accordingly. Some merely say the law should not be repealed, while still others, which the legislators declare thankfully to be in the majority, merely ask the representatives to "do the best they can," and if they can not prevent the option law from being amended, then make the substitute as strong as possible.

There was considerable talk about the house Monday that an effort would be made by those Democrats who have received many temperance letters to get together and make an honest endeavor to strengthen any liquor bill that comes before them for passage.

"None of us want to disregard these petitions from home," said one assemblyman from a temperance county, "but we can't override the platform. The best way would be for us to get together and talk over the bills that have been introduced, find out their weak places and endeavor so to amend them that although the county option law is changed, the substitute will furnish rigid restrictions."

Several of these temperance petitions have been filed in the house by the recipients. Others are being held pending the outcome of the two liquor bills now before the legislature—the Fleming and Proctor measures—but neither of these in their present form seems to have met with the approval of temperance members.

Indiana Art Exhibit.

The paintings for the Indiana Art Exhibit which will be given at the Shields high school building for one week beginning Thursday, January 19, have arrived and are being placed in position. The exhibit will be the finest display of the work of Indiana artists ever shown in Seymour. The exhibit is given under the direction of the Tuesday Club and an admission of 10 cents will be charged. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the hospital.

Charity Organization.

The charity organization of the city will meet at the library building Thursday evening at 7:30 for reorganization and for the transaction of important business. All who are interested in charity work are urged to attend.

MANY WILLING TO ASSIST IN CENSUS

Additional Enumerators Have Been Named, but Sixty More Volunteers Are Needed For the Work.

NO ONE HAS REFUSED TO SERVE

It is Hoped That Other Enumerators Can be Named so That the Complete List Can be Given Wednesday.

The city clerk and treasurer have been on the "go" all day answering inquiries and explaining the plan by which the recount of the population of the city will be made next Monday. Everyone is interested and any number of persons have proffered their services if they can be of assistance in taking the census. Not a single man who has been asked to enumerate the people in his block has declined to do the work, and in several of the blocks two or three citizens have volunteered to do the work.

There are a total of one hundred seventy-five blocks in the city and there are only about sixty for which enumerators have not been named. The list of enumerators including the additional names which have been added since yesterday is published again this evening, and it is hoped that the complete list can be obtained by tomorrow. The clerk and treasurer who have the census in charge make the request that persons living in the blocks which are not named, and who are willing to take the enumeration, telephone their names to the city building at once so that this part of the task can be closed as soon as possible. It is their desire that the complete list might be published tomorrow so that every one will know who will take the census in the block in which they live and will watch for them on next Monday.

Cards containing places for the names of the citizens and the street address will be provided for the enumerators so that the reports will be filed in a uniform manner. At the bottom of each card will be a line for the signature of the enumerator. One card will be provided for each family so that they can be arranged in alphabetical order and any name easily and readily found.

The city engineer, E. D. Douglass, has prepared a map of the city with each of the blocks designated. As soon as the enumerators are named the block in which they will take the census is checked off the map, and an exact record can thus be kept of the blocks provided with enumerators. When the enumerators file their reports their names will be "checked in" on the maps and it will be an easy matter to find the enumerators, if any, who do not report within the time given.

The following is the list of enumerators who will take the census of the blocks in which they live. If no resident in your block has been named telephone the clerk or treasurer so that a complete list can be given tomorrow.

ANNUAL ASSESSORS' MEETING

John W. McCardle, State Tax Commissioner Will Give Address.

The Jackson county township assessors and their deputies will meet in the court room at Brownstown, Saturday, January 28. The Hon. John W. McCardle, state tax commissioner, will be present and give an address.

The meeting will be given over to the discussion of the assessment of real estate and personal property. The meeting will be of unusual interest as the real estate will be assessed this year. The meeting will be called at 1 o'clock in the afternoon so that all the assessors and their deputies may be given an opportunity to reach Brownstown before the session convenes. An invitation is also extended to the taxpayers of the county to attend.

BIG SALES

Ebner Company Sold 6,000 Barrels of Apples Last Month.

The Ebner Ice and Cold Storage Company which bought and put in storage at its various plants last fall many thousand bushels of apples, is now disposing of the fruit. Last month the company sold 6,000 barrels shipping them to Chicago, New Orleans and many other points in the country. About 1,500 barrels are yet stored at the local plant and the company has large quantities of apples in its other store houses which it will sell during the next few months.

Popular Mechanics Magazine For February.

New methods and means of safeguarding life and the stories or recent life-destroying disasters, in stern contrast, feature the February number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. The February number contains, in all, 273 articles and 301 illustrations. The altitude record in aeronautics for the year 1910 furnishes an interesting article, and the recent fatalities, including the death of Moisant and Hoxsey, are discussed. The work of the California insectary, where beneficial insects are bred and distributed, is described, with illustrations. All recent developments in science and mechanics are noted impartially in their relation to progress and the profusely illustrated volume is all "written so you can understand it."

Helping Out a Lover

By LAWRENCE ALFRED CLAY

(Copyright, 1930, by Associated Literary Press.)

Young Bart Enright had arrived at the age of twenty-two, and though he was no sissy he was spoken of as bashful, modest and retiring. He could not help it. It was something he had inherited from his father, who was a wholesale merchant, and too modest to make more than 50 per cent. profit.

Burt Enright was heart free when he was formally introduced to Ethel Garrison at a summer hotel. Any other young man would have been wandering around in the paths and glens with her in less than an hour. Mr. Burt stood aloof. His bashfulness kept him in the background until a dozen hints were thrown out. Then he wandered, but he did not take much comfort and he did not talk much. His mother had warned him not to. She said that the young man that talked too much found himself engaged without knowing how he got there.

The young man ought to have realized that a flirtation was on. A flirtation at the seashore or the mountains is a part of the program. It belongs to the scenery. It is paid for in the hotel bill. It reaches its climax the middle of August, and is frost-bitten the first of September. He began with a flirtation, but as he could not keep his end up it degenerated into a real love affair after a fortnight. That is, Miss Ethel thought him a nice boy—a good boy—a boy to be very nice and sweet to.

It is doubtful if he would have noticed the shimmer of the moonlight on the lake if she had not called his attention to it. Moonlight shimmers bring sentiments.

There were grottoes. He had not even peered into one until Miss Ethel said she was tired and begged him to sit down in one. Grottoes are inseparably connected with loving hearts.

There were cooling doves. Mr. Enright had not decided whether they were doves or crows when the brand of bird was explained to him and he was told that they cooed their love as twilight came down—just the time he wasn't cooling his.

He was encouraged to talk and to sigh and to start to say something and then stop and blush. In the three weeks he was led on and on until at the close of the season he almost asked the privilege of calling on Miss Ethel at her home in the city later on. Almost means that he said he knew her father's house and often passed it and hoped to again some time. He was straightway invited to call.

In the course of time things had reached that pass where papa must be asked if he could spare his charming young daughter.

The usual course is to walk in on the old gentleman with a ready-made speech, and the old gentleman is prepared with another, but in this case there was a lion in the path. Mr. Garrison wasn't very old, but he had been blown up on an occasion by a barrel of gunpowder and was as deaf as a post.

By yelling through a trumpet placed at his ear he could catch now and then a word, but to make an impassioned appeal to him was out of the question. Miss Ethel had foreseen the difficulty and was ready with a suggestion. It was gratefully adopted.

Young Mr. Burt wrote a letter to the father, saying all that could be said, and ten times more than he could have said with his tongue. Mr. Garrison was tinkering with his ear-trumpet when the letter arrived, and he placed it on a shelf in the library and forgot all about it.

Mr. Enright had asked for an interview, but he didn't get it. A week went past and no word came from him. Then Miss Ethel came to the front again. As a matter of fact, papa didn't even know Mr. Enright by sight. They had been introduced, but he paid no attention to callers. He might have taken the letter as a hoax or a piece of impudence. She would descend on the parent and announce that the young man wished a word with him, and thus pave the way.

The father was found in his usual corner and the announcement made.

"Who? Enright?" he queried. "And what does he want? I knew an Enright once, but he went into bankruptcy and hung himself."

Five minutes later the young man stood in the awful presence, and was received with:

"If you are a collector or book agent it will be useless."

"I have called, sir—I have called—" was shouted in the trumpet.

"Louder!"

The words were shouted again. "Yes, I know you've called, but what of it? If you have a scheme to work it won't go here."

"It is about your daughter."

"Yes, I have a daughter somewhere around. Are you a music teacher, and does she want to take lessons of you?"

At this juncture the ear trumpet fell apart. It was of two pieces and held by a clasp. The clasp had broken. Mr. Garrison swore. Then he kicked the two sections across the room and continued to swear. Then he made a trumpet of his hand and said to the caller:

"State your business in a loud, clear voice. I can sometimes hear this way."

Was the request for his daughter's hand ever yelled into a father's ear? Never! The lover stood there red-faced and weak-kneed. The father's back was to the door, and at this juncture the daughter opened it and pantomimed for the lover to go ahead and yell. She was worth yelling for. No yell, no consent; no consent, no bride. He braced and yelled:

"I have called to ask for your daughter!"

"Louder, please!"

"I want to marry your daughter!"

"You seem to have a wonderfully weak voice. Perhaps you have a cold. At your age I took squills when I had a cold."

"Yell—yell—yell!" exclaimed the girl in a stage whisper.

"I want—Ethel!" was fairly roared.

"From the Evening Times, eh? And you want to interview me on the Japanese question?" queried Mr. Garrison, as he seated himself. "Very well, sir. I have made three different trips to Japan, and believe I understand the people as few Americans do. There will be no war between Japan and the United States. You can say so on my authority."

Miss Ethel had advanced into the room, but keeping out of range of vision. Her lover looked at her with despair in his eyes.

"You've got to make him hear!" she said.

"But how can I?"

"He's started on the subject of Japan and will talk for hours."

"But his trumpet is gone and I yelled my loudest. Ethel, I must give you up!"

"Give up nothing! Write what you want to say and hand it to him. There is pencil and paper."

"I'm shaking so that I couldn't write a word. It is terrible to know that we must part. That is, we must part or elope. That is, I can't make him understand me until he gets a new trumpet."

"But I can and will!"

She advanced till her father caught sight of her, and smiled and held out his hand, and then she funneled her hands each side of his ear, and standing on tiptoes, she shrieked:

"Do you hear that!"

"Yes, faintly."

"Mr. Enright wants to ask your consent to our marriage. Do you catch it?"

"Oh, yes."

"And what do you say?"

"Why, I say he'd have saved half an hour's time asking me when he first came in!"

PIONEER IN CHOSEN FIELD

Andre Marie Ampere, the Electrical Wonder, Planned the First Electric Telegraph.

Foremost among the pioneers in the electrical field was Andre Marie Ampere, was born in Lyons in 1775, and whose name is now used as the practical unit of the electrical current as a token of his universal renown.

Ampere was a mathematical wonder, even as a child, and at the early age of twelve years he mastered the Latin language in order to read the treatises on differential calculus. He always claimed that he knew as much of mathematics at fifteen as he ever did in his life, and he was always the foremost mathematician of his time.

In 1820 he demonstrated the fact that two parallel wires, conveying electrical currents, attract each other when the currents flow in the same direction, and repel each other when they flow in different directions. Finally, he promulgated the startling theory that every atom of magnetic matter in a magnet is magnetic by virtue of a circular electric current inclosing it, and he suggested that the magnetism of the earth might be produced by currents circulating around its mass from east to west.

The same year he planned an electric telegraph, having as many wires as there are letters in the alphabet, with a magnetic needle under each, so that when a current was sent through a wire, the corresponding needle would move and signify a letter. This was the first telegraphic plan on record, but it was never carried out.

Ampere died in 1836. The quantity of electricity flowing through a conductor is now expressed in "amperes" in memory of the man who did so much toward furthering the science of electricity.

CAP and BELLS

WHY THEY CHANGED SUBJECT

Discussion Over Sweet Little Honey-suckle-Covered Cottage Is Dropped Abruptly.

"Yes," said he, "life is so lonely." "It is lonely sometimes," she answered.

"Wouldn't it be sweet to have a little cottage covered with ivy and honeysuckle and roses?"

"Oh, wouldn't it?"

"And when a fellow comes home tired from business to have a nice little wife to meet him at the door with a kiss?"

"Ye-e-e-s!"

"And then the winter nights, the blazing fire in the cosy parlor, and you—I mean a wife—at the piano singing in the gloaming. It would be lovely."

"I think it would be sweet!" "And then—"

At this point a careworn woman came round the corner with a pair of twins in a perambulator. A dead silence fell upon the pair; the air—

Then they changed the subject.

"Diddunteerim, either, didja?"

"Coursenot."

"Awkumoff!"

"Sayookids," interrupted the floor-walker, "quitcherchinnler I'll reporcha!"

Caesar's Lament.

The wild beasts gnashed their teeth and roared like a circus callopie; the gladiators shouted hoarsely; the arena was knee-deep with gore.

In the amphitheater the pleasure-seeking populace clamored tumultuously.

"More blood! More death!" they yelled ferociously.

Great Caesar in his private box heard their cry and sighed.

"Would that I might grant their prayer," he muttered. "If only—"

and imploringly he raised his eyes heavenward—"I could pull off an automobile cup race!"

Great Caesar wept.

For with all his boasted power he was unable to hasten the flight of time.

AN IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION.

Caroline—So you do not believe in early marriages? You think a man ought to have made his way first, I suppose.

Hobart—To tell the truth, what weighs chiefly with me is that the later one marries the less time one has to outlive one's illusions.

Reason for Ajax's Madness.

Ajax had defied the lightning. "However, there's very little in it for me with nobody wanting the picture rights," he sighed discontentedly.

It was by such advanced ideas, though he held them but vaguely, that he at length got himself considered mad.—Puck.

Charitable.

"I'd have you know, sir," snorted the loud-voiced individual, "that I'm a self-made man."

"Oh, very well," retorted the other, calmly, "I'll accept your apology."

GLEANINGS FROM THE OPERA

Society Woman Forgot Name of Play but She Enjoyed Herself Immensely in Gossiping.

"Well, did you enjoy your evening, my dear?"

"Indeed I did, John. I went to the opera."

"Oh, what did you hear?"

"Rather, what didn't I hear? I heard that Ruth Jackson was engaged to Tom Harris, the one who got drunk at the golf club ball last year. And that Jack Courtney and Edith Pascoe have quarreled and are not going to be married after all. Then I heard that the Singletons have a baby, and Mrs. Singleton wants it called Peter Garibaldi, after her mother's stepfather; but Mr. Singleton wants it called Primus, because it's the first. Then I heard that Baron von Schmeldt is not a baron at all, and that the Johnsons—"

"But—"

"Don't interrupt. I thought you wanted to know what I heard?"

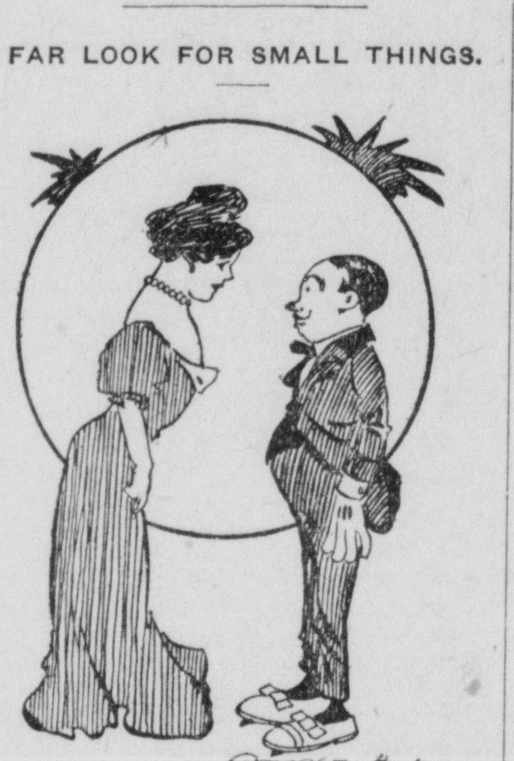

"So I did, but—"

"Keep quiet, then. Well, I also heard—"

"What I meant was, what opera did you hear?"

"Oh, I don't remember. I saw the name on the program."

FAR LOOK FOR SMALL THINGS.

He—Often when I look up at the stars in the firmament I cannot help thinking how small, how insignificant I am after all.

She—Gracious! Doesn't that thought ever strike you except when you look at the stars in the firmament?

Exasperating.

All afternoon Mr. Stubb had been moving pictures from one room to another and his only reward was dust and perspiration.

"Hurry up, John," chided Mrs. Stubb, impatiently. "You will never finish at that rate."

Mr. Stubb removed the cobwebs from his florid brow.

"Woman, do you think I'm a machine?"

"Gracious, how funny!"

"Madam, may I ask what is funny?"

"Why, dear, if you were a machine you would be a moving-picture machine."

And then and there Mr. Stubb washed his hands and started for the club.

An Expert's Opinion.

A student in a medical college, while learning the use of the ophthalmoscope, was told to examine a man's eye and report upon the condition of it. The doctor-to-be adjusted the instrument and looked long and searchingly into the subject's left optic.

"Most remarkable," he ejaculated, with a surprised look. Readjusting the ophthalmoscope, he again carefully scrutinized the eye. "Very extraordinary, indeed," he exclaimed. "I never heard of such an eye. This must be some new disease. Have you ever had an expert's opinion on it?"

"Once," was the laconic reply. "The man who put it in said it was a fine bit of glass."—Tit-Bits.

The Inventive Parent.

Woodbury—I noticed that Knew-pop had electric lights put on his lawn last summer.

Seaforth—Yes, and he also had a baby sling put on his lawn mower. He figured if his baby was wakeful, so he would have to walk with it, that he might as well push the lawn mower and cut the grass at the same time. I have often seen him come from the house at midnight, turn on the lights, put the baby in the sling and start out on his double job.

Impossible Employment.

Seymour—Did you have steady employment during the time you were living in South America?

Ashley—Why? Simply because there are so many earthquakes there.

BANKERS SHOULD ADVERTISE

Average Citizen Unfamiliar With the Business—Could Be Explained to Advantage.

The Bankers' Magazine recently contained an article by Silas W. Hatch, in which the latter advocated that banks do more advertising. Mr. Hatch wrote in part as follows:

"There is a great deal of ignorance on the subject of deposits and loans for commercial purposes, and certificates of deposit and their many advantages have never been explained to the public at large as they should be."

"Why the bankers have not taken the public into their confidence and explained the hundred and one advantages and talking points of their various institutions is beyond comprehension."

"If the bankers could be made to realize this, millions of hoarded dollars would soon be in the various banks, where they belong."

"The average wage earner knows nothing of banking methods. You will find very few people, even those dealing with the savings banks today, who know who the officers and directors are of the bank they deal with."

"Very few know what the capital or surplus of a bank is. No one ever explained to him that the capital and surplus of a bank stands between the depositors and any loss, or how the law protects and safeguards their deposits, and why their money is safe."

"If, when new accounts were opened, these points had been explained, there would have been no more such panics as we went through in 1907."

"It is the fault of the bankers that this condition exists, and until the public at large is better posted on modern banking methods the old stocking and the sugar bowl will continue to be the hiding places for money that should be making money for both depositor and banker."

FUNCTIONS OF ADVERTISING

It is Expensive, Creative, Intensive, Accelerative and Improving, Says G. W. Coleman.

George W. Coleman, publisher of the Christian Endeavor World and president of the Pilgrim Publicity association, summarized interestingly the different functions of advertising at the Boston Y. W. C. A. in an address on advertising the other evening. Among other things he said that advertising is first an expansive force, since it can do what a man personally cannot do; a creative force, since it constantly creates new wants; an intensive force, developing new use for the same product; an accelerative force and a conserving force. In support of the last quality he told of a case where a once well-advertised firm maintained a good business for twenty years on the results of their former advertising. Lastly, Mr. Coleman called it an improving force, declaring that in most cases a man took extra pains to keep his products up to their advertised standard.

According to Mr. Coleman modern advertising has three great antecedents—the printing press, the study and development of natural sciences, and democracy. In explanation of the last factor he said that in no country where democracy did not flourish could there be any great field for the development of advertising, since the condition of the great body of working people is an all-important feature in this development.

Newspaper Better Than Billboard.

Baron Gustave von Palm gave a talk on "Theatrical Advertising" at the luncheon of the Pilgrim Publicity association at the Boston City club the other day. Baron von Palm told his hearers that up to five years ago he had been for 20 years closely connected with the theatrical business as manager, producer and even performer. Theatrical advertising, he said, was really the father of modern publicity methods. After an amusing description of some of the inventive schemes by which theatrical advertisers sought to draw attention to their shows, Baron von Palm stated that personally he did not believe in the billboard methods of advertising, believing the newspaper to be the medium through which the results were obtained.

Tomorrow's dividends can only come from today's investment. Mere intent to advertise brings no income.

NOT FOR THE QUITTER.

If there is one enterprise on earth that a quitter should leave entirely alone, it is advertising. To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to stick like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. He should know, before he begins it, that he must spend money—lots of it. Somebody must tell him that he cannot hope to reap results commensurate with his expenditure, early in the game.—John Wanamaker.

ADVERTISING REDUCES PRICE

Merchant Who Spends Money for Publicity Cannot Afford to Go Back on His Word.

That the millions spent yearly in advertising is in the end a saving to the customer, that only fogies continue to think they pay more for advertised commodities and that the millions spent in this way is an insurance against fraud were some of the statements of Arthur Brisbane at a luncheon given by the Chicago Advertising association.

"A man who advertises a business properly is a distributor and helps to economize for the consumer," he said. "If a man manufactures a million articles and advertises them he can sell them cheaper than the man who makes but a thousand and does not advertise."

"The old-fashioned think they pay more for the advertised article. They pay less and are protected. The man who spends $10,000,000 in advertising is building a reputation the same as if he bought bricks and built a building. He can no more afford to be false to his word and lose that reputation than he could afford to set fire to his plant."

"The advertiser ought to say: 'I have spent so much money to buy a reputation and just that much is behind every statement I make.'"

"Writing a successful advertisement is the most difficult thing in the business of writing. You can write an interesting story about noses and every man will feel of his nose and look in a glass. It concerns something which is his. But in writing an advertisement you must first overcome his reluctance to read it."

"Newspaper advertising is the quickest and surest way of building a reputation. It pounds at the consumer every day. The trouble with the average man is that he will advertise a heater only when it is cold. He should pick the hottest day of summer and say: 'It is hot as the devil today. Next winter will be just as cold. Then when winter comes the consumer is familiar with that particular heater.'"

ADVERTISING EPIGRAMS

There's romance in business, as well as in books. Many a fact-story of advertising is more gripping than fiction. It's all in the telling.

Some houses play advertising as their last card when they should have played it as their first.

Make your goods the best, and then make them so well known by advertising that any man can pick out the best from the rest.

There's "pretty picture" advertising. There's "cute copy" advertising. There's honey-dipped and sugar-coated advertising that appeals to the senses, but not to sense. Stop tickling and hit hard!

The ability to pack the utmost meaning into the fewest words is rare in advertising. So much of it ambles and rambles, stutters and sputters, lacks both joint and point.

Some advertising is over-weighty. Some advertising is over-vitty. The best advertising is that which hits with the force and directness of a cannon ball.

The perfect advertisement is not that which makes the reader exclaim admiringly, "How clever," but which makes him mutter determinedly, "I want that!"

Advertising copy need not be spineless and spiritless. It can have the same attributes as the human voice—magnetism, incisiveness, persuasiveness.

There's a dynamic force about good advertising copy, which blows the cold ashes of indifference into the leaping flame of interest.

In advertising it's so easy to be surface-clever and so hard to be deep-down convincing. The orchestra leader who tears his hair seldom evokes great music. True power lies in restraint.

Often an advertising campaign that starts with a run ends with a limp, because the advertiser instead of trusting to his driver meddles with the reins.

If the face of the staggering successes won through advertising the firm that says: "Advertising is rot!" proclaims its own dry-rot.

Type to be eye-compelling must have elbow room. Printers call it "white space."

HIS GOOD WORK HAS NOT ENDED

Senator Beveridge's Example a Continuing Force.

HE TOILED IN PEOPLE'S CAUSE

The Central Thought of the Republican Orators Who Placed Senator Beveridge's Name Before the Indiana Legislature Was That His Present Retirement From Public Place Is No More Than a Temporary Rest.

Indianapolis, Jan. 17.—The Republicans of Indiana, by their representatives in the legislature, paid high tribute to the name and fame, and gave praise for the public services of Senator A. J. Beveridge, on the occasion of the taking of the formal vote on United States senator, at the state capitol today.

Though for the first time in his public career the vote for Senator Beveridge recorded defeat instead of victory, and though the Democrats had their day of triumph over Beveridge the candidate, it was the expressed thought of the speakers on the Republican side, both in the house and in the senate, that Senator Beveridge had not worked in vain, and that his steadfast pursuit of the right and his progressive adherence to wise legislative policies would continue to serve the public indefinitely in time to come.

The central idea followed by the Republican orators was to the effect that Senator Beveridge's present retirement from public place is no more than a temporary rest for a man who has toiled unremittingly in the cause of the people.

One of the Peers of the Senate.

Senator Will R. Wood, Republican floor leader, in placing Senator Beveridge in nomination in the senate this morning, said in part: "Twelve years ago the state of Indiana sent to the United States senate a young man who was then but little known beyond the confines of the state. He won preferment then by sheer force of intellect, untarnished character and indomitable will.

"The only master he has ever acknowledged is the people of the state and of the nation, whose untiring servant he has ever been. He has stood as one of the peers of the senate, world-famed for its great leaders. There has not been a statute of importance to the whole people enacted in the last twelve years but that has received the beneficial touch of his creative genius."

The speaker reviewed briefly the various measures with which the name of Senator Beveridge has been connected, and continued: "Our candidate sprang from the common people. He suffered their trials and endured their hardships. In youth he came in contact with poverty's touch."

Reference was made to the great fight that has been made against the evil of child labor under the leadership of Senator Beveridge. Senator Wood declared that Senator Beveridge's determined opposition to this great wrong "was burned into his very soul by his own youthful experience."

His Life an Inspiration.

"His life should afford an inspiration to every poor boy in the land," declared Senator Wood, "for he has demonstrated that the road from poverty to exalted and honorable station is open to everybody who has inherent ability, laudable ambition, persistent energy and sterling integrity.

"In the full vigor of his manhood, in the ripeness of his experience, in the maturity of his intellect, he is better prepared to serve the state and the nation today than he has ever been before."

Senator Durre said in part: "Though our efforts are futile, the honor of presenting the name of one whose labors for the betterment of mankind has shed glory on his state and added new luster to his fame, is no less great. We bow to the will of the majority. Still, we feel that Albert J. Beveridge can better afford to lose the toga he has honored than the people of the nation and of his state can afford to have him resign it.

"Men come and men go. Principles survive. The things for which Senator Beveridge fought were not always politically expedient, viewed from a selfish standpoint. His attitude in advocating the things he believed to be right, regardless of his own political fate, is certainly refreshing, even though his reward was the counterfeited coin of modern political currency.

History Will Award Credit.

"He may never again be called to the high office which he so creditably filled, but the doctrines he preached will be enacted into law, and his party, the Republican party, will be credited as the progressive agency of wholesome legislation for the people. Impartial historians will give credit to Albert J. Beveridge as one of the great political pioneers whose clearance of the forest of special privilege marked an economic epoch in American history.

"His reward may not be political, but in the hearts of mankind, because of beneficent legislation of his advocacy, he will be revered and his memory will be kept green.

"Well may Indiana feel proud of her representatives to the senate. Never has there been a taint of suspicion against the fair name of the state nor the manner of its selection of its senators. Other states have had their senatorial scandals, but Indiana never has known one, until, in a moment of despair, despondency and disappointment, the gentleman now honored by Democracy did impugn the integrity of our legislative body and place a blot on the fair escutcheon of our commonwealth. I can accept the choice of the majority with the best grace of a good loser, but would be better satisfied if this imputation were erased with some excuse or apology by the recipient of Democracy's generosity.

"I deem it a great honor, though defeat is now decreed, to again place in nomination the apostle of peace, progress and prosperity, the Hon. Albert J. Beveridge."

Senator Frank Gavit of Whiting also spoke briefly, reviewing the splendid career of Senator Beveridge and seconding his nomination.

The House Bestows High Praise.

On the house side, in the afternoon, the chief speech in nominating Senator Beveridge was made by Representative George W. Williams of Knightstown. Mr. Williams' speech was especially interesting because of the fact that he was one of the thirteen members of the legislature of 1899 who voted for Beveridge in his first election to the United States senate.

Mr. Williams said in part: "Twelve years ago it was my good fortune to be a member of the majority in this body, and the selection of a senator devolved on us. Among the many able men aspiring to the position was a young man—not unknown—but who had never aspired to an elective office—a young man without money, without patronage, and only offering for the honest suffrage of his party his eminent fitness for the position. After a spirited contest he was nominated and elected. No breath of scandal has ever been attached to his name. He has stood before his state and before the nation as an untrammeled advocate of the rights of the people. The great interests have not been able to buy his silence or obtain his help. He is today one of the nation's greatest factors in the fight against graft and corrupt government. While he goes to defeat, it is with reputation unsullied by dishonor and with his face to the front."

Russell K. Bedgood of Lafayette; Maurice McClew of Angola; Miles J. Furnas, Winchester, and D. J. Troyer of Elkhart were heard in the house in second speeches for Senator Beveridge.

Rockets and Red Fire.

The Democratic orators in both houses were generous of rockets and red fire in their tributes to John W. Kern, the choice of the majority.

The house members were the guests of the senate at the morning session of oratory, and the senators went over to the house in the afternoon to hear the representatives expatiate on the good qualities of the rival candidates for the United States senatorship.

The oratory was preliminary to the real function at which the counting of official noses and the recording of the vote, together with the announcement of the result, will take place Wednesday in the senate chamber. The speeches of today were heard by large crowds of the friends of both Senator Beveridge and John Worth Kern. The getting of the United States senatorship, the big event of the week, leaves the way clear for business along legislative lines. It is now predicted that the majority will begin to grind out bills. Several important measures are ready for feeding through the machinery at this time.

Bills For Second Reading.

Among the bills up for second reading in the house are the "white slave" bill, one relating to the branding of renovated butter, enabling insurance companies to invest in municipal and road bonds, legal tender payment for condemned property for park purposes, authorizing legal notices in either daily or weekly newspapers, and the three state board of health bills pertaining to health measures and the sale of drugs. It will be necessary for the committees to dispose of a number of bills now on the table before the influx of new business expected after the senatorial election program is disposed of tomorrow.

Three or four committee meetings were on yesterday afternoon, while at 7 o'clock last night the house and senate committees on labor held a joint public hearing in the house chamber on the Keenan child labor bill.

EXTRA SESSION NOT UNLIKELY

Legislative Time Clipped By House Action.

SPEAKER CANNON OVERRULED

When the House Decided That No General Business Could Be Considered on the First and Third Mondays of the Month, the Chance of Getting Through by March 4 Was Considerably Lessened.

Washington, Jan. 17.—In the view of the leaders of the body, from Speaker Cannon down, the outcome of another row on the rules in the house indicates the probability of an extra session of congress.

Representative Tawney, chairman of the appropriation committee, was more communicative on the subject than those associated with him in the leadership of the house organization. While he would not permit himself to be quoted, he admitted that as a result of the performance of the house there was slim chance of the regular business of that body being concluded by March 4.

What the house did amounts to the establishment of a precedent that no general business may be considered, no matter what a majority of the body shall desire, on the first and third Mondays of the month. These days must be given over to the consideration of bills called up for passage by unanimous consent, or bills proposed for passage under suspension of the rules and of motions for the discharge of committees from the consideration of measures on which they have taken no action. But as one man may destroy the operation of the unanimous consent rule, and as Representative Mann of Illinois, by utilizing the absurdities of the committee discharge proposition, has rendered it impossible to consider bills under suspension of the rules, it is apparent that for a considerable portion of the legislative total the house is entirely tied up. The flurry came when Representative Hull, chairman of the military committee, made an effort to get consideration of the military appropriation bill in the face of the fact that the house was working on bills under the rule of unanimous consent. The speaker ruled that Hull's motion was in order. The house overruled the speaker's ruling by a vote of 155 to 124.

Husband of American Girl Holds Himself in Readiness.

London, Jan. 17.—Contrary to recent reports, Prince Miguel of Braganza, who married Miss Anita Stewart of New York, and who has taken the title of Duke de Vizeu, has not gone to Pau, but is waiting in Austria the call which he expects to mount to Portugal throne. He and his agents continue to give out interviews stating the readiness of the duke to take up the burden of government, and already they are outlining the policy he will pursue when he secures the crown. It is understood that the duke was accompanied to Austria by his wife, who is anxious to know what her chances are of becoming a queen.

French Academy Is Favorable to Mme. Curie's Candidacy.

Paris, Jan. 17.—The Academy of Sciences, which seems determined upon the election of Mme. Curie, discoverer of radium, despite the fact that the Institute of France has voted otherwise, met and examined the claims of candidates for the seat of the late M. Gernez. After a long debate the academy classified the candidates as follows: First choice, Mme. Curie; second choice, M. Berthelot, M. Branly, M. Broca, M. Cottin, M. Perot. The election will take place on Jan. 23. If elected Mme. Curie will be the first woman to occupy a seat in the academy.

Who Has Voluntarily Retired.

TOBACCO GROWERS VOTED FOR CUT-OUT

Almost Unanimous Decision of Kentucky Planters.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Jan. 16.—Montgomery county tobacco growers voted, 160 to 14, that the 1911 crop should be cut out. Pledges were signed cutting out about 500 acres, and many pledges were sent to various precincts. However, it does not seem to make much difference here what the result of the campaign for a cut-out results in, as there are farmers in Montgomery county who are determined to grow a crop this year, even if they have to do so with guards, as was done in 1908. Some do not take the meeting to be a careful sentiment of the county, for there were more farmers on the streets wanting to grow than was expected, and they did not attend the meeting, for the reason that if it is declared to cut out they will not attempt to grow through fear.

Independent tobacco growers of Madison county voted unanimously indorsing the action of the convention at Lexington cutting out the 1911 crop. Woodford county tobacco growers and Nicholas county growers did the same. Lincoln county growers went on record in favor of cutting out the 1911 crop. It is believed that there will not be a pound of tobacco grown in that county this year. Ninety per cent of the Carter county growers are in favor of the cut-out movement. Many signed the pledge.

OLD ADMIRAL IS NOT CONCERNED

Talks Flippantly to Reporters of Ugly Rumors.

NAVY COVERS UP A SCANDAL

It Is Said at Washington That There Will Probably Be No Courtmartial in the Extraordinary Case of Rear Admiral Barry, Who Is Said to Have Been Practically Forced Out of the Service.

San Francisco, Jan. 17.—From the West Virginia yesterday afternoon the flag of Rear Admiral Barry was hauled down, while Rear Admiral Thomas's flag as command-in-chief of the Pacific fleet was hoisted on the California. The retiring admiral was given the usual salute by the West Virginia, but the California, Maryland and Pennsylvania failed to salute. When Admiral Thomas's flag was run up all four ships gave him the usual admiral's salute.

Barry after the ceremony went to his cabin. There was no lining up of officers as usual and no departure of the retiring officer over the side which is usually an impressive ceremony. Instead the admiral stalked away to his cabin. There he met a delegation of newspaper men and gave them a remarkable interview. He talked flippantly on general subjects saying he was going ashore to the Palace hotel, but this must be kept secret. He also spoke of returning to New York, but he said he would have to visit a very dear friend at Mare Island. When finally brought back to the ugly charges of shameful vice, he said:

"Well, gentlemen, my religious training has been against such vice, but if given my choice between being burned at the stake and indulging in such practice, I would probably not choose the stake."

Honor of the Navy Involved.

Back of the sudden and enforced retirement from the United States navy of Admiral Barry, lies a narrative which has all the elements of a tragedy, but the full story probably never will be told, for with their right hands raised, the officers of the cruiser West Virginia stood in the messroom a few nights ago and every man registered a solemn oath that, for the honor of the navy, the truth should not be revealed.

But a part of the story is out, coming from another source, and one part of it is that following an incident on board the battleship in which the rear admiral was the central figure, the suggestion was made that a loaded revolver be sent to him by the officers of the warship. The suggestion was put to a vote, and it was decided that before such a step be taken an opportunity be given the rear admiral to present his resignation to the authorities at Washington at once and depart from the vessel. The rear admiral, who is sixty-two years old, when informed of the decision, begged and pleaded with his officers of the West Virginia, but they were unrelenting. Instead of resigning, however, he telegraphed to Washington, asking that he be retired from service immediately. On learning of this action by the commander, all the officers left the vessel with the exception of those who had to remain on active duty.

DETAILS WANTED

Secretary Meyer Demands Full Report on Extraordinary Case.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Secretary of the Navy Meyer has called upon Rear Admiral Chancery Thomas, command-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, for a complete report on the charges made against Rear Admiral E. B. Barry, former command-in-chief of the fleet, which resulted in his retirement. The department has no information concerning Admiral Barry's conduct, and Secretary Meyer will take no action in the case pending the arrival of the complete report.

Admiral Barry was placed on the retired list on last Friday, upon his own application made by telegraph. As he would have been retired from age on Oct. 20 next, and also in view of the fact that he was assigned to the command of the Pacific fleet only a few weeks ago, the application caused some surprise. Nobody on duty in the department had heard any hint of scandal in connection with the case. The scandal affecting Admiral Barry is similar, it is said, to that which ruined Prince Philip Eulenberg, Emperor William's adviser, in the German "round table" expose.

ZELAYA IN BAD

His Former Government May Bring Him Back For Punishment.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The constitutional assembly of Nicaragua will shortly take up the question of punishing former President Jose Santos Zelaya of Nicaragua for his alleged criminal actions while serving as president of Nicaragua, according to advices received by Dr. Salvador Castillio, the minister here of the Nicaraguan government. Zelaya is now in exile in Belgium, and if he is indicted in Nicaragua for his alleged misdeeds it is probable that he will be extradited to Nicaragua for trial.

SALE OF GROCERY

Several Proprietors During Past Few Months.

The Hoosier Cash Grocery on South Chestnut street has been sold again, Mrs. Rodica Uphouse being the purchaser. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. George Brocker over the store. L. L. Downing, a former proprietor, will have charge of the store until Mrs. Uphouse and Mrs. Brocker become familiar with the business and trade. The grocery has had a number of owners during the past few months. In October Mr. Downing, who had been the proprietor for three years disposed of it to J. W. VanArsdal of Columbus. The latter after owning it for six weeks traded it to H. Crawford who at that time had the old Dodd restaurant on E. Second street. After owning the place for a short time Mr. Crawford traded it to William Keys of Jennings county and he in turn sold it to Mrs. Uphouse Monday evening.

She is now in possession and expects to keep the place and will give the business careful attention.

You have got to clean and purify the stomach now or you'll easily catch the diseases around. Guard your health, keep away diseases by taking Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea once a week. See how easy it will keep you well and strong. Begin tonight. Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

I can never thank you enough for the advice you gave me, to take Cardui, for since taking it I look so well and am stout as a mule."

You are urged to take Cardui, that gentle, vegetable tonic, for weak women. Its use will strengthen and build up your system, relieve or prevent headache, backache and the ailments of weak women.

It will surely help you, as it has helped thousands of others, in the past 50 years.

JOHN W. KERN IS NAMED SENATOR

Interesting Ceremony In Indiana
Legislature Today.

BOTH HOUSES TOOK A BALLOT

This Will Be Announced In Another
Joint Session at Noon Tomorrow,
After Which John W. Kern of Indianapolis Will Be Formally Declared the Duly Elected Representative of Indiana in the United States Senate.

Indianapolis, Jan. 17.—A successor to Senator Albert J. Beveridge, whose term of office will expire on March 4, was elected at joint sessions of the upper and lower branches of the state legislature today. John W. Kern, the choice of the Democrats, and Senator Beveridge, the Republican choice, were nominated in both senate and house, where ballots were taken openly, and at high noon tomorrow the final poll of votes will be announced at a joint meeting of the two branches, when, on being declared elected, Mr. Kern will speak.

The election of a United States senator is a procedure established by law. At 11 o'clock today the senate convened. A message was sent to the house asking that members of that body repair to the senate chamber and witness the ceremony. On members of both houses assembling, the lieutenant governor announced the special order of business before the body was the election of a United States senator. Mr. Kern was then nominated, Bernard B. Shively, senator from Marion, making the first speech. Senators Levi P. Harlan, Indianapolis; Harry E. Grube, Plymouth; W. B. Carleton, Evansville, and Robert E. Proctor of Elkhart, followed. There also were other speeches.

The Minority's Nominee.

For the minority, Senator Will R. Wood of Lafayette nominated Senator Beveridge. His speech was not long. The nomination was seconded and speeches made by Senators Edgar Durde of Evansville and Frank M. Gavitt of Whiting.

The roll for votes was then called and the result announced. Adjournment followed.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon similar proceedings were held in the house, the senate being invited to be present. Representative Leonard B. Clore of Franklin made the first speech. He was followed by Representatives W. W. Spencer of Indianapolis, James B. Merriman of Bluffton, and H. L. McGinnis of Martinsville. Other representatives also spoke.

Representative George W. Williams of Knightstown nominated Beveridge for the Republicans. Other Beveridge speeches were made by Maurice McClew of Angola, Russell K. Bedgood of Lafayette, Miles J. Furnas of Winchester, and Daniel J. Troyer of Elkhart. The house vote was then taken.

At high noon tomorrow both branches will convene in the hall of the house, Lieutenant Governor Hall presiding. Governor Marshall also is expected to be present. The journals of the sessions of the two houses of the preceding day will be read and Kern will be declared elected. The newly chosen senator will then address the legislators. He will not speak at length.

Mr. Kern Going to Washington.

Mr. Kern had been requested to accompany to Washington the Indiana special which left Sunday night to boom Stokes Jackson, Democratic state chairman, for the office of sergeant-at-arms of the national house of representatives. On account of the conflict of dates Mr. Kern, of course, was unable to go with the party, but as he knows many men in Washington whose influence would be of great help to Jackson, and as he wishes the state chairman to get the coveted place, it is probable Mr. Kern will leave Indianapolis Wednesday for Washington, in order to be on hand when the Indiana delegation charges the capitol Thursday.

On account of the senatorship election, Mr. Kern also was obliged to decline an invitation to attend the national Democratic love feast, known as the Jackson Day celebration, to be held in Baltimore tonight. Andrew Jackson was first nominated for the presidency in Baltimore.

Pointers on Liquor Question.

Members of the house who come from counties where there are many temperance people, both Democratic and Republican, as well as of Prohibition party affiliations, are confronted with an option question that threatens seriously to disturb their peace of mind. Petitions and personal letters are coming in to the legislature from many sources.

Communications are being received by assemblies, both in the form of petitions from churches, W. C. T. U.'s, women's societies and general temperance organizations and also letters from individual constituents. These are of varying degrees of insistence, according to the writer's belief.

A number demand that the county option law shall not be repealed, and ask the representatives to act accordingly. Some merely say the law should not be repealed, while still others, which the legislators declare thankfully to be in the majority, merely ask the representatives to "do the best they can."

OLD PEOPLE

Made Strong by Vinol.

A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My father is 80 years of age and he owes his present strength and good health to Vinol."

"During the last two trying winters he never had a cold, and was able to walk farther and do more than for years."

"I think Vinol is perfectly wonderful. It certainly is the greatest blood-making and strengthening tonic for old people I ever heard of."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co., Seymour, Ind.

Doctor Praises D. D. D.

Although an M. D., I acknowledge to my patients and patrons that your remedy, D. D. D., reaches cases of Eczema and permanently cures them.—Dr. Ira T. Gabbert, Caldwell, Kan.

"My cure began from the first application of D. D. D. My skin is now as smooth as a baby's. I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for what D. D. D. has done for me," writes August Santo, of Chillicothe, Ohio.

These are just samples of letters we are receiving every day from grateful patients all over the country.

"Worth its weight in gold," "All my pimples washed away by D. D. D.," "I found instant relief," "D. D. D. is little short of miraculous." These are the words of others in describing the great skin remedy, D. D. D.

Proven by thousands of cures, for ten years to be absolutely harmless and reliable in every case of skin trouble, no matter what it is.

THROUGH PASSENGER TRAINS

Reported That New Services Will be Inaugurated on C. T. H. & S. E.

Through passenger service from this city to Chicago will be established on March 1 on the Chicago, Terre Haute and Southeastern according to a report which is current. It is said that two new trains, known as the "Chicago Limiteds," will be placed on a schedule so that passengers on the B. & O. S-W. might be accommodated.

The company is now having equipment made for the two new trains that will be placed in service between Seymour and Chicago. The equipment will be of the latest and most costly design. The coaches will be of the high "back seat" type and luxurious throughout. The trains will be known as the "Chicago Limited," and will not stop at all stations. The running time between Cincinnati and Chicago will be reduced according to proposed schedules two hours and ten minutes. Shortly after the sale of the old Southern Indiana was made it was rumored that through service would be inaugurated, but no steps were taken at that time to establish the trains. The road from Terre Haute to Chicago is completed but has been used exclusively for freight traffic.

Should the new trains be established on the C. T. H. & S-E. this city would be the junction point for all passengers on the B. & O. S-W.

SNOW SHOVELS IN USE

Snow Caused Some Delay of Trains on Steam Roads.

The snow which fell this morning caused many snow shovels to be brought into use again this morning and many persons were out before the snow had stopped falling clearing the side walks.

About three and one-half inches of snow were recorded here, but in other parts of the state it was much heavier. Several of the trains on the steam roads were delayed by the snow and when they came into the city were covered with ice and snow. The traction lines also suffered some delay, but most of the cars came in shortly after they were due. There was no damage to any of the telephone lines reported.

The snow is very beneficial to the wheat which has had a hard winter. The weather has been cold and the wheat has had but little protection.

Ways of Using Stale Cake.

When the cake is in a loaf it is easy matter to steam it and make a good pudding sauce of eggs and sugar with a little milk and flavoring or a cooked sauce of half a cup of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour and the same of butter, half a cup of boiling water and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook until smooth and flavor with grated nutmeg.

All bits of cake may be worked over into the steamed brown bread, so that nothing need be wasted.

Sweet Fritters.

Take one and a half cups of stale cake crumbs. Beat together one egg, one tablespoonful of sugar, one cup of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder; add enough milk to make a thin batter and stir in the crumbs. Bake on a hot griddle as pancakes and serve with sirup.

Another nice dessert with cake may be prepared by laying slices of cake in a serving dish, pour over fruit juice of any desired flavor and fill the dish with a custard. Serve cold.

Economical Pudding.

Beat three eggs, add a cup of sugar and three cups of milk and flavoring. Add two cups of cake crumbs and bake in a slow oven one hour. A little breakfast cereal left over or a little cooked rice may be added to this pudding, and a few raisins, though these are not necessary.

A Few Hints.

When buying a box of laundry soap, which is a good way to do, take it from the box and pile it in a dry place where the air can circulate through it. Dry soap spends much better than green.

Turn the scrub brush bristles down when drying and the moisture will drain out rather than soak into the wood.

Velvet ribbons may be freshened by steaming over a wet cloth placed over a hot iron.

Hem the dishcloths to save the lint which ragged edges make, and such cloths will be respected and better used.

A nice umbrella should be carefully dried before putting away, and never left rolled in its case for any length of time, as it is apt to crack in the folds.

LET there be many windows in your soul.

That all the glory of the universe May beautify it. Not the narrow pane Of one poor creed can catch the radiant rays

That shine from countless sources. Tear away The blinds of superstition. Let the light Pour through fair windows, broad as truth itself.

And high as heaven. . . . Tune your ear To all the wordless music of the stars, And to the voice of nature; and your heart

Shall turn to truth and goodness as the plant Turns to the sun. A thousand unseen hands

Reach down to help you to their peace-crowned heights; And all the forces of the firmament Shall fortify your strength. Be not afraid

To thrust aside half truths and grasp the whole.

The Chaffing Dish.

To the woman with many servants the chaffing dish is a pleasant amusement, to the woman who has none it is a pleasant and practical change from the every day serving of things. Sunday night suppers are a delight, prepared from the chaffing dish.

To make a success of the meal all the preparations should be carefully made before hand. The butter measured in a tablespoon and made into balls is then ready to use without measuring. The stock or milk may be measured and put into little pitchers. Have the salt, pepper and flour all in a group easy to find. If meat or fish is to be used let it be diced as it is to be served.

See that the lamp is filled and the utensils at hand before inviting out the guests. There are any number of dishes easy to serve from a chaffing dish such as creamed eggs, poached, scrambled and omelets. Creamed sweetbreads, creamed mushrooms, oysters in a variety of ways, small birds, fish and chicken.

Good alcohol is expensive, but it does not burn away as fast as the wood alcohol and does not leave the burner covered with the sticky deposit that the wood alcohol does.

A nice way is to serve a cocktail of fruit or a salad while the guests are waiting as you prepare the main dishes. Give each one something to do to help make the time an enjoyable one. Many like to prepare the dishes in the kitchen and simply keep them hot in the chaffing dish while serving, but this takes away the pleasure of seeing the dishes made before the eyes, which is enjoyed by everybody.

A chaffing dish may be an elaborate and expensive affair or one very simple and and just as useful.

For the Winter

HANDSOME long coat of plush or fur, finished with shawl collar and deep cuffs of fur, leaves nothing to be desired from the point of style or comfort. It is surmounted by a round turban of satin with a velvet coronet, on which a Persian band, embroidered with gold cord and studded with mock jewels, is mounted about the crown and across the brim. When the latter shows an indentation over the left eye a stiff aigrette is placed. These turbans set down over the head and are worn at a dashing and sometimes a little rakish angle, by the more youthful devotees of fashion.

Equally full of style, more adaptable to individual wearers and the perfection of comfort and convenience, is to be found in the soft velvet hats and turbans (which might as properly be called hoods) and can only be accurately named as turban-hoods. They are not made over a frame but are supported by an interlining of some sort, warm and soft. They are lined with silk and worn far down on the head. A little fringe of curls about the forehead and neck is about all the hair that is visible with them.

A soft hat and muff of beaver cloth in mustard color, trimmed with dark brown fox fur, is shown in the second figure. The fur is bordered with old gold lace and the turban finished with two standing plumes in brown and green. This set is from the atelier of the renowned Carlier of Paris. By such clever effects the French rightly earn and keep their prestige.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

FANCY BLOUSE.

Worn with a serge or cloth skirt of the same color this blouse would look very well. It has a yoke of silk and lace ornamented with fancy buttons and loops of cord; the velveteen is arranged in flat pleats that are carried from yoke to waist; the sleeve to below elbow is of velveteen with cuff of silk, the under-sleeves of lace to match the yoke.

Materials required: 2 1/2 yards velveteen 24 inches wide, 3/4 yard silk, 3/4 yard lace.

Suede and Steel.

A gray suede bag shaped like a fleur-de-lis is most attractive in its unique cut. Its mounting is steel, plain in design, which does not interfere with the outlines of the bag, and the beading differs from that usually seen in that it is done with large instead of small beads.

They measure about an eighth of an inch in diameter and are of fine cut steel. They are used to bring out a pattern on the bag and also to outline its edges, and at the same time to sew the two sides of the bag together.

Life of Underskirts.

When making or buying a petticoat, have it two inches longer than the required length. Put in a one-inch tuck above the hem, which takes up the two inches.

When the bottom ruffle or the hem of the skirt wears, let down the tuck, cut off the ruffle or hem and hem up and you will have a nice clean skirt again, as the bottom always wears first.

BLUE AND BROWN ARE SMART

These Are the Year's Popular Colors, the Latter Especially in its Darker Shades.

Certain colors never go out of fashion and others are doomed to a short life by the very quality that makes them popular. Navy blue is one of the colors whose popularity never seems to fluctuate from season to season, probably because it is so universally becoming. The browns are more variable, but this year they are considered extremely smart, especially in their darker shades—Kaffir, nutmeg, seal and walnut.

In fact, all the new colors are perceptibly darker. Black is the smartest color of the season, but its effect is far from being sober or somber, because it is always relieved by white or by some vivid color. It has had its effect on other colors; the smart blues are almost black, the new greens are the deep shades of teal-leaf and win-tergreen; and prune is the most popular shade of purple. Black used to be kept almost entirely for older women, but dressmakers are beginning to appreciate the fact that it is not becoming unless a woman has youth, health and a good color. Even then it has to be broken with blue, green, gold, etc., to give it the life it needs.—Delin-eator.

Diet and Beauty.

Diet has much to do with the condition of the pores of the face.

If food is not suited to the individual and is too rich, the system may try to throw it off by an exudation of oil through the pores. It is this which causes oily complexion, and the first step, of course, is to change the diet.

Such foods should be adopted as are nutritious, easily digested, and lacking in grease.

The list includes milk, eggs, fish, rare meats, rich spinach, beans and the like.

Thick soups, pastries and elaborate desserts should be banished, and plenty of fruit eaten.

Fresh air and careful washing of the face are, of course, necessary accompaniments of the treatment.

Carry Few Toilet Articles.

Women frequently carry many more toilet accessories than are needed. It is perfectly fair to assume that the hostess will have a dressing table equipped, or that she will possess enough pieces for the wants of her guests. Every woman wishes to carry her own brush and comb, but a hand mirror is heavy, and it is expected that one will be provided.

OLD FASHION ROAST

IT SHOULD BE COOKED OVED BED OF HOT ASHES.

Now Is the Time to Have an Old-Fashioned Corn Roast, Build a Huge Bonfire and Invite Your Friends Over.

Corn and baked potatoes, with oysters roasted in the shell, will be all that is needed for supper beyond the usual sandwiches and soft drinks. If a salad is wanted the tiny pear-shaped tomatoes carry easily and are not messy nor do they need preparation. Mayonnaise should be mixed at home, put in a small glass jar, and packed in a kettle filled with ice.

To insure a successful roast it is necessary to have a huge bed of ashes. If you can find any of the party enthusiastic enough to start the fire the night before and keep it going steadily, you will have much better results. Otherwise it should be started hours ahead of the meal time.

Tear off all the husks but the thin inner layers. Remove silk and tie the rest of husks so they do not come open.

Put the corn and potatoes in the ashes about the same time, the potatoes five minutes earlier if they are big ones. The oysters roast in much less time.

Use Good Butter.

Have a supply of good butter with which to dress oysters and corn. Potatoes are dug from their charred shells and mixed with plenty of butter, salt and pepper.

Let the men tend to putting the foods in the ashes, also to removing them with small shovels. Girls' dresses are too inflammable to go near a bonfire.

There is a flavor to these ashes cooked food that can be had in no other way—nor is it just imagination or youth lending a glamour.

Some picnickers include apples for dessert in the roasting list. The skins are somewhat too much charred to be palatable, but they are excellent when put in long iron skewers or in corn poppers and cooked over the flame.

Corn popping is also an agreeable addition if long enough handles can be rigged up not to toast the toasters.

Cabbage in a Loaf.

Scoop out the crumbs from a square loaf of bread, leaving only the four walls. Leave in the oven until crisp and fill with the following mixture: Take off the large outside leaves from a small head of cabbage, remove the stalk and soak in water for about ten minutes, drain and cook in boiling salted water with a teaspoonful of soda until tender; cut into small pieces, season with salt and pepper and put a layer of the cabbage into the loaf with small pieces of butter over it. Add a layer of breadcrumbs and grated cheese. Let stand in the oven until the cheese has melted, and serve very hot.

Apple Ginger.

Apple ginger is a relish that will find appreciation. Make a syrup of four pounds of sugar and a pint of water. As soon as it comes to a boil add one ounce of green ginger sliced, the yellow rind of four lemons cut in tiny bits, and four pounds of apples pared and quartered. Cook twenty minutes, add the juice of four lemons, let it come to a boil and seal while hot.

To Remove Grease.

To remove candle grease from a fabric or any smooth surface, heat a knife and carefully scrape off with this hot implement. This is easier than ironing over the grease, besides being possible of achievement in more cases.

Sealing wax is a harder problem. It is easy to remove, but leaves a white spot after it. This spot, however, will yield to sponging with turpentine, or, if it still persists after this, to a further application of alcohol.

Escalloped Potatoes.

Pare and slice thin one quart of potatoes; put layer of potatoes in baking dish, seasoning with pepper and salt. Repeat this until all the potatoes are used. Then take milk, one egg, and heaping tablespoonful of flour, beat all together, pour over potatoes and cut thin slices of bacon and put on top of potatoes. Put in oven and bake until brown.

Glacé au Chocolate.

Glacé au Chocolate—Place two ounces of chocolate in a saucepan with a half teaspoonful of vanilla extract; place over hot water until melted, then add three ounces of powdered sugar and the white of an egg, place over the fire and mix with a wooden spoon until just warm. Remove and immediately use as directed.

Gold Cake.

One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, yolks of six eggs, one-half cup sweet milk, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one and one-half cups flour. Beat butter and sugar to a cream, beat the yolks and add. Dissolve soda in milk and sift cream of tartar in flour.

Apple Custard Pie.

One large sweet apple, grated, one-half cup sugar, one egg well beaten, pinch of salt, one scant pint of milk. Bake in one crust.

RECIPE FOR PLUM PUDDING

Currants, Orange Peel, Citron, Suet, Bread, Flour, Sugar and Many Other Ingredients Used.

One pound raisins, one pound currants, one-quarter pound candied orange peel, one-quarter pound citron, one-half pound chopped suet, one-half pound stale bread crumbs, one-fourth pound flour, one-half pound brown sugar, one nutmeg, grated, one tablespoonful cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful allspice, one-half pint brandy, eight eggs. Wash and dry currants, cut citron and orange peel fine, stone raisins. Mix all dry ingredients together. Beat eggs; pour them over dry ingredients, add the brandy, and mix thoroughly. Pack into greased molds and boil six hours at time of making and three hours when wanted for use. Serve with brandy sauce.

Brandy Sauce.—One-fourth cup butter, one cup sugar, two tablespoonfuls brandy, yolks of two eggs, one-half cup of milk or cream, whites of two eggs. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, then brandy slowly, well beaten yolks, and milk or cream. Cook over hot water until it thickens as a custard; pour on the beaten whites. Serve at once.

CATSUP THAT WILL NOT SPOIL

Do Not Use Tin or Iron While Making Relish, Wooden Spoon and Porcelain Are the Best.

Here is a catsup that will keep its color because no spices are used to darken it. The vivid scarlet catsup of commerce is colored. For two pecks of ripe tomatoes allow four large onions, six sweet red peppers, or four if they are exceptionally strong, two cupfuls sugar and one quart vinegar. Wash the tomatoes and cook long enough for them to become soft, then put through a strainer to take out the seeds. Do not use tin or iron while making catsup.

A wooden spoon, and porcelain or granite kettles and strainers are best. Cook until the pulp begins to thicken, then add the onions chopped fine or grated, the peppers, chopped, and the salt and vinegar. Cook until of the right consistency and seal in sterilized bottles.

A teaspoonful of olive oil or brandy, poured in the neck of the bottle before sealing, prevents mold or souring.

Banana Jelly.

Make coffee jelly as follows: Soak one-half package of gelatine in one-half cup of cold water two minutes; add one cup white sugar, one and one-half cups boiling water and one cup of clear strong coffee; stir until dissolved, then let it stand until cool; fill a dish with sliced bananas, turn the liquid over it, put it where it will harden. When ready to serve turn out as any jelly and pile whipped cream around it, or it may be eaten with ordinary cream turned over it.

About the House.

When putting away the silver tea or coffee pot which is not used every day, lay a little stick across the top under the cover. This will allow the fresh air to get in, and prevent mustiness.

Clean oilcloth with a wet towel pinned over a stiff broom and rub with long sweeping strokes.

To keep varnished woods looking fresh and bright rub it thoroughly with oil from time to time.

Stephanie Omelette.

Two ounces granulated sugar with the yolks of four eggs beaten to a foam; the whites of four eggs beaten to resemble snow and very light; one coffee-spoonful of granulated sugar or sirup. Place in a well buttered pan, then place pan in hot oven. Fruit or confection can then be placed in the pan and pan overturned. In the plates can be placed citron or vanilla to the taste. The omelette must be served immediately.

German Potato Salad.

Slice cold, boiled, firm potatoes thin; sprinkle generously with salt and pepper and pour over them a dressing made in the proportion of three spoonfuls of olive oil to one spoonful of strong vinegar. Add a little onion if liked. Leave the salad for several hours before using, turning the potatoes two or three times. Keep very cold.

Orange Cake.

One cup sugar, three tablespoonfuls butter, two eggs, half cup orange juice, grated rind of one orange, one and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar, beat, add eggs unbeaten, beat thoroughly, add orange juice, then the flour sifted with the baking powder. Bake in gem pans and roll in powdered sugar while warm.

Potato Omelet.

One large cupful of mashed potato, one heaping teaspoonful of flour, one level teaspoonful of salt, three eggs, having the whites and yolks beaten separately, one-half cupful of milk and a little finely-minced parsley. Pour in a hot, buttered pan, brown lightly and serve hot.

To Improve Apple Sauce.

Very sour apples used for sauce or in pies will assume a very delicious and spicy flavor if a few chopped dates are added to them.

Practical Fashions

GIRLS' DRESS.

Little girls are just as particular about their clothes as the older ones, and want them up-to-date. We show a model that will certainly suit the most particular ones, as it may be worn without the chemisette, a style that girls of all ages are looking for. At each shoulder is a Gibson tuck, stitched down a few inches in the front and all the way to the belt in the back. At each side of the center-front is a backward turning tuck and at the top is a shaped band which makes a very pretty finish. The fullness in the body is gathered into a belt and the closing is at the center-back. A chemisette with standing collar attached is worn inside the dress if desired. The sleeves are bishop, gathered into a deep cuff. A side plaited skirt is sewed to the belt, the first two plaits at each side of the center being stitched down a few inches, which gives the panel effect. The pattern (5175) is cut in sizes 6 to 12 years. To make the dress in the medium size will require 2 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide, 2 1/4 yards 44 inches wide, or 2 yards 50 inches wide.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

LADY DOLLS' SET.

This little dress consists of dress and coat and has all the features of the newest ideals in "my ladies' wardrobe." The "banded-in" skirt, waist and sleeves cut in one, together with the sailor collar are all shown here. In the little dress the waist and sleeve are cut in one, and closes at the back; the upper part of the skirt is circular and is joined to the waist by a cord. The lower edge is gathered into the band, and this is also circular, the upper edge forming a tuck where it joins the skirt section. The coat is cut all in one piece and the only seams are under the arms. The lower edge of the sleeve section is turned back to form a cuff. A sailor collar finishes the neck. These little garments are usually made of materials that may be in the house, and no suggestions are necessary in this case.

His Waterloo.

A mosquito buzzing on his way many things did tackle; he bled a boy and dog, they say, then made a rooster cackle. At last upon a drummer's cheek he settled down to drill; he prodded there for half a week, and then he broke his bill.

Nothing Daunted.

STREETS OF HAVANA LIKE RIVERS

"SEA-GOING" CABS IN HAVANA.

HAVANA, CUBA.—This city is only beginning to recover from the disastrous effects of the recent violent storms that swept the entire island. For days the streets of Havana were under water and it was almost impossible for the people to get about in the business part of the city. The "deep-sea-going cab" of slang became a reality, and these vehicles did a rushing business. Many rafts also were constructed on which passengers were conveyed across the flooded thoroughfares.

FEASTS THAT KILL

Horace Fletcher, Arch-Apostle of Hypermastication, Talks.

Details Dire Effects of Christmas Dinners and Thanksgiving Turkeys—Finds That Poor Are Good Eaters.

Chicago.—Christmas and Thanksgiving turkey, cranberry sauce and the long list of victuals that go with these staple articles have been responsible for more loss of life, energy and ability to the people than all the great battles of history.

Thus does Horace Fletcher, arch-apostle of hypermastication—meaning, in plain English, the world's foremost advocate of the theory of thoroughly chewing food—denounce overeating, especially the extent to which the practise is indulged in on national holidays.

Not only that, but the Sunday dinner is more directly blameable for "Blue Monday" than is the proverbial

CURE MADE BY SUGGESTION

Girl in Cataleptic State Now Talks and Scientists Will Work on "Muscle Memory."

Paris.—The local papers publish the story of a servant named Josephine who has fallen into a cataleptic slumber and cannot be awakened. She is at present in the hospital at Alencon, where she has been since January 22 of this year. Josephine, who is thirty-two years of age, for the last 13 years has been subject to nervous fits, which occurred every few months. She was prostrated completely after these attacks and was incapable of working for several days. Her spirits were affected and she became convinced that she would never work again. As her character became more somber her nervousness increased.

On June 11 last, after a day in which she exhibited unusual mental agitation, she fell into a sleep from which she has not yet recovered. The anaesthesia is generalized. Hearing, sight and taste are suspended. Only the sense of smell remains in a certain measure. The eyelids frequently tremble convulsively, while at intervals the patient gives utterance to inarticulate groans.

Dr. Paul Farez, professor at the school of psychology, is interested extremely in this remarkable case and is using his best efforts to convert the pathological sleep into an hypnotic sleep in which state the patient would be more accessible to suggestions of a therapeutic efficacy. His labors in this direction have been crowned with success.

When she fell into the catalepsy Josephine was completely speechless. Now she articulates in a loud voice—the effect of suggestion. Responding to the same influences she sits up without assistance in bed. Under the guidance of the doctor her faculties return little by little. But her muscles have lost their most elementary notions of movement. Her medical attendant now is working upon the "muscle memory." He believes that presently the dreamer will be called back by a scientific miracle from the limbo where her mind wanders, and that she will be restored to active life.

Horse Size of Dog.

New York.—The skeleton of a horse, which must have been about the size of a modern fox terrier and had four toes, has been found in Wyoming by an exploring party sent by the American Museum of Natural History. The museum authorities have just received the news. The skeleton represents the oldest ancestor of the horse of today ever found and resembled a hippopotamus and a tapir as much as it did a horse.

WONDERS OF TREE SURGERY

Wounds Treated Almost as Intelligently as in the Case of Human Beings.

The wonders of tree surgery will amaze the average layman in such matters, declares a writer in the Christian Herald. It is only a few years since the ravages of a severe wind-storm would have proved fatal to many trees in its path. It was customary merely to cut off the broken or splintered limb and leave the wound to heal as best it could. If the tree were badly split it was removed. Today few accidents to trees prove fatal. The fractured surface is first treated antiseptically. It has been found that these exposed surfaces of living wood are sensitive to many germs. The air itself is full of germs dangerous to trees, and if these be allowed to lodge and develop they will gradually produce a sore, and if neglected will eat out the very heart of the tree.

The broken parts are then brought together and bound up. A wound of this kind, intelligently treated, will heal itself completely and the tree will in time be as strong as ever. The latest idea in tree surgery is to bind the parts together by means of metal bars passing directly through the limbs, tightened by bolts at either end. The practise of binding the broken parts together by metal bands is discouraged, since a tight band tends to check the free circulation of the sap and hinder the healing process. Then again the tree is likely to grow about the metal band and sustain serious injury.

A wound of this kind, even after it has been skillfully treated, must be carefully watched. There is considerable danger of water working its way into these crevices and hindering the knitting process, perhaps causing the entire interior to decay. To prevent this, ingenious sheds of concrete or metal are built about the exposed surface to shelter them. The cutting of a limb is performed with the same scientific attention. The limbs are cut at a carefully calculated angle, and the exposed surface is treated with antiseptic washes or salves to protect the living fibers from germ infection.

Chivalry Not Yet Dead.

An incident on an "L" train awakens the thought that the days of chivalry are not yet departed, records a Boston correspondent. It was on a busy morning and every seat in the car had its passenger and every strap its "hanger." There were also persons in the car who had neither, and it was then that one man's politeness shone out as all good deeds do in this naughty world. He was hanging on to his strap, but beside him was a woman who had nothing to which she could anchor. The gentleman, noticing her predicament, tipped his hat with his free hand and said:

"Madam, may I offer you my strap; it is the best I can do."

The woman smiled and took it.

Old Car a Chapel.

Possibly the most honorable post filled by a discarded tramcar is that of a chapel in the neighborhood of Cheshunt, England. Standing by the roadside is a quiet lane, the chapel, as far as a passing cyclist could judge, attracts quite a large congregation Sunday afternoons.

The uses of the tram and bus are many and varied. The writer has dressed in a cricket pavilion that was once a tram, and fed at a wayside stall that he may have ridden in when it was a bus. And on the Broadways has seen a railway carriage doing duty as a bathing shed, with several compartments.—London Chronicle.

The Way Waddell Eats.

George Edward Waddell, known from one end of Uncle Sam's domain to the other as "Rube" Waddell, was the guest of Henry Glassen at a dinner a few nights ago. The manager of the Ironside A. C. had a regular course dinner, but this is how the eccentric twirler started and finished: Fried oysters, potatoes mashed, sliced tomatoes, baked beans, roast beef, chicken, pickle, beer, cake, clam chowder, ice cream, beer.

It only cost Manager Glassen $2 for the Rube's share, and then George Edward remarked: "That's just half what I eat when Joe McGinnity pays the bill."—Newark Star.

Secret of Morgan's Longevity.

When J. P. Morgan was in his fifties he had very poor health, and went to a great New York physician, who said to him: "Stop exercise in every form. Never even walk when you can take a cab. You have formed the habit of living without exercise, giving your energy to your brain. It is too late to change the habits of a lifetime." This advice Mr. Morgan followed implicitly. Since that time he has absolutely shunned exercise; has eaten heavily and smoked much—and has buried all his own business generation, and remains robust at seventy-three.

The Short Days.

Post Wheeler, the secretary of the American embassy in St. Petersburg, said on his arrival in New York last month:

"I shall enjoy the autumn here. Our autumn, with its stillness, its yellow sunshine, its haze and its smell of burning leaves, is by far our best season."

Mr. Wheeler smiled.

"The only trouble with the autumn," he ended, "is, as the Irishman says, that it gets late too early."

MINNESOTA STALLION BARN FOR BREEDING PURPOSES

Safe Harbor of Refuge Is Provided for Boys and Timid People With Mares—Also Aids in Securing Patronage.

The following description of a Minnesota stallion barn is given by M. T. Grattan in Breeder's Gazette:

The stallion barn fronts to the south and after passing office and carriage space comes the stallion boxes with stout plank doors opening in and double doors opening out. The stallions stand with their heads out at liberty, and as they never bite mares, couple of holes in north side of wall to receive them. The wing affords a safe place for party with mare. The bars make a pen for foal so the mare may keep her head to it. The bars also keep the mare from being shoved ahead and cramped. The top one will be at her breast and the bottom one at her knees. These bars should be strong, say 2 inches, and work easy.

A Minnesota Stallion Barn.

trying is done by leading the mare to the stallion's door. If found in season she is led to the northwest corner of the barn, off from the plank, onto a space 21x16 feet with cinder and earth floor and 14 feet to ceiling. A solid slide door 10x14 feet shuts this space off from the rest of the barn except a big box stall in which mares can be tied. For the breeding pen or chute proper the north wall of barn provides one side and the west wall of barn the end toward which the mare is led. Sink a couple of solid posts so as to have a pen 8 feet long from west wall and 4 feet wide inside. Lay sound 2 inch plank from the ground to a height of 3 feet 3 inches. Have the two posts outside of plank sawed to their height and edges smoothly rounded, as well as edges of planks at ends and on top. Sink another post from middle of pen south 4 feet. Just in front of this wing make a couple of holes to run a pair of 5 feet 6 inch gas pipe bars through and make a

Mares are bred in this pen or stall, those for the trotter always being hopped, but rarely for the draft horse.

The dimensions given may be varied and the part of stall back of wing hinged if desired. However, the hinges are not much of an advantage; the stall is wide enough so a mare's heels, by a sharp turn of her head, may be turned into the wall.

Often boys, or timid people, bring mares and the safe harbor of refuge behind the wing is much appreciated. It will help a stallion's patronage where competition is sharp.

The floor of the entire space should be covered with short stuff and chaff and kept scrupulously clean, wet straw and droppings being wheeled out after each visit. This arrangement is admirable also for handling a bull with safety. Up to this date this year—August 22—74 mares have been bred to the brother, 98 to the draft horse and 62 cows to a Red Poll bull without injury to man or beast.

ORCHARD TREE PEST KILLED

San Jose Scale Controlled by Natural Enemy in Form of Disease of Fungus Growth—Checks Its Spread.

(By C. E. SANBORN, Entomologist, Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station.)

During the last two or three years this department has been experimenting with a natural enemy of the San Jose Scale. This enemy is a disease in the nature of a fungous growth. In southern latitudes it has been used even to a commercial extent for controlling the scale, but on account of the weather conditions of this state it has been supposed that such a disease would either fail to propagate itself during the summer or be entirely too delicate to withstand the low winter temperature. Careful experimentation, however, has proved the disease is very hardy and capable of propagation to a very beneficial extent in our infested orchards.

Often times diseases of a serious nature are introduced and scattered by insects and other agencies in general. This disease, however, is not capable of doing any damage to anything except the San Jose Scale and allied forms. Its use in orchards, groves, and public parks, as shown by our experiments, will be of a very great advantage in checking the local spread of the San Jose Scale.

It is of the same nature as the chinch bug disease but its appearance on infected insects is not nearly as conspicuous as the latter. To an ordinary observer it appears to be no more than the mold which is commonly present on damp bread a few days' old. It will live and propagate on bread and is apparently just as harmless to the higher animal life, but the microscopic examination of an infected San Jose Scale reveals it to be fatal to the latter.

Our experiments have been so conclusive in regard to the practicability of checking the San Jose Scale with this disease that we are now propagating it to an extent sufficient to enable us to supply gratis all interested citizens of this state who may request it. The conditions under which we shall send it out are that the party requesting it shall first submit specimens of scale to us for identification. If the submitted specimens prove to be the San Jose Scale we will send a small package by mail. No directions for application other than those following will be given unless especially requested.

Directions—The fungus is grown on a jelly-like material which is of amber color in appearance. The color of the fungus or disease is white. This material may become more or less disarranged in transit through the mail, but its vitality will not be lessened. Upon its receipt the applicant should paste small portions of it to his infested trees. The jelly-like substance will adhere nicely. The fungus will gradually scatter from one tree to another of its own accord, but will accomplish better results if artificially well scattered when first applied.

HEREFORD OF APPROVED TYPE

The Hereford shown in the illustration has the true beef form, straight back, good under line, well filled quarters and compact barrel. Cattle of this build are money-makers for their owners.

MEN UNFIT TO WED

So Declares Memphis Beauty Who Divorced Philadelphian.

Mrs. Keith Donaldson Compares Northern Man With Those from South, Especially Texans—Foreigners Inferior.

New York.—Mrs. Keith Donaldson, at the ripe age of twenty-four years, will never, no, never, marry again. She says so herself. The ideal man does not exist, she declares, and until he is produced she will devote herself to the care of her child, the accommodating courts of Reno having relieved her of her husband, a former Philadelphian.

Two years of married life have taught her the wisdom of the ages, and no man need apply, unless—yes, there's a string to the declaration. There is a chance for a Texan. "For," says the lovely divorcee, "my fortune came from the great and glorious state of Texas, and if the same state can produce a man handsome, strong, chivalrous and steady, I may be prevailed upon to change my mind."

Mrs. Donaldson was Miss Evelyn Willis Hunter of Memphis, Tenn. A great beauty, she was much sought after in every city, but the dashing Philadelphian carried off the "million dollar bride," and the wedding took place in New York, April 25, 1906. The couple went to live at the St. Regis.

Differences arose between the young pair, and a separation followed. Then came the divorce, and Mrs. Donaldson went abroad. She has just returned, with her views of men unchanged, and, if anything, more firmly rooted in her mind.

It was rumored that she was engaged to Robert Dula, but this she denied emphatically. "Why," she declared, "he is only nineteen, just a nice boy, and the brother of my friend, Mrs. Townsend Horner. I shall never marry again."

"I returned from abroad the other day, where I met several men, but none approached my ideal of what a husband should be."

"When abroad I studied the continental gentleman and found him away back in the field when it comes to racing with southerners—and especially Texans. He does equal northern men, though, I must admit, but the northern men, either easterners or westerners, are not fitted to be husbands. I think every northern father should send his son south for a finishing education in gallantry. He will learn much that will make him fitted to compete with the hundreds of foreigners who come here to New York and break into the families of the rich."

CAN'T COPYRIGHT CITY NAME

Wilkesbarre Is Denied Right to Exclusive Use—Government Makes Adverse Ruling.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—This city's efforts to have its name copyrighted has failed, owing to the decision of the register of copyrights in Washington that the city has no legal right to the sole and exclusive possession of its name.

The register of copyrights says in his decision:

"We beg to say we cannot possibly think of any way in which you could secure for the city of Wilkesbarre the exclusive right to its name by any proceedings under the copyright law. There does not seem to be any principle of law which insures to a city the exclusive right to its name. The post office department has authority to name a post office whatever it sees fit."

Pin Journeys to Appendix.

Chicago.—At the Provident hospital physicians found a pin in the appendix of six-year-old Josephine Shoecraft. The pin was straight and had traveled through the child's body without damaging any other part. She will recover.

The case is considered remarkable because the pin had traveled more than fourteen feet through the oesophagus, stomach and bowels without perforating the walls.

In most cases where a pin has been swallowed it has pierced the wall of an intestine and lost itself in the tissues of the body, occasionally causing death.

Has 518 Descendants.

Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. Jane Morris, residing in the foothills of the Cumberland mountains in Jackson county, lays claim to being the greatest mother in the world. She boasts of 518 descendants, nearly all of whom are living. None of them has ever been accused of a crime.

Mail Clerks Know Nicknames.

London.—Addressed from London to "Whipshire, Devon," a letter has been delivered without delay at Tiverton, where one hundred years ago rogues and vagabonds were whipped round the town at the tail of a cart—hence the name Whipshire, almost unknown to the present generation.
